Abstract

The descriptive study, conducted in October 2016 determined the graduates' profile and employment statistics, relevancy of the course to their first job, the type of employment and its working establishment. Random sampling is used in this study. There are 13 participants of the study out of 23 graduates of Bachelor of Science in Tourism Management of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University- Molo Inc. Some of the data was gathered at the research center of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University- Molo Inc. A great number of the graduates were employed and most of them have a permanent job. The graduates also believe that their curriculum is relevant to their first job.
