42 OH, THE PLACES I'VE SAILED

One of America's most well-known sailors looks back at some of his favorite cruising destinations and ponders the question, "Where to next?"

By Gary Jobson

52 SOUTHERN OCEAN SOJOURN

The wild and remote southern coast of Tasmania beckoned two cousins for a three-week sailing adventure.

By Kevin Green

58 SAILING IN CIRCLES

A pair of grandparents-to-be await news of the new arrival while cruising along the beautiful northern coast of Lake Huron.

By Fred Bagley

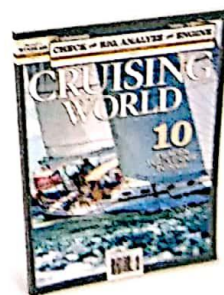

62 SWEAT, TEARS AND FIBERGLASS

Money and patience wear thin when a classic-plastic refit stretches into the third year. Fortunately, for this young couple, the results were worth it.

By Jordan Wicht

“I was about to feel the fury of the Roaring Forties but little did I know how quickly it would arrive. Hastily, I made my way back to the dinghy and set off for the two-mile ride back to Beatrice.”

69 HUNTING SEASON

Done at the beginning of the sailing season, a thorough engine analysis will alert you to concerns before they become problems.

By Scott Fratcher

74 ANCHORS AWAY

Choosing and installing a new anchor windlass isn't a job to be taken lightly.

By Tom Zydler

78 SPAR TREK

A regular inspection of the mast and standing rigging will go a long way towards keeping the rig standing tall.

By Ralph Naranjo

82 SELLING YOUR BOAT DOWN UNDER

For cruisers who have no plans to sail farther than the Pacific, a healthy market for used boats awaits you in Australia.

By Robin Urquhart

86 DESK JOB

Unsatisfied with his boat's nav station, this DIYer fashions a new one.

By Roger Hughes

89 CORE VALUES

An exposed wood core in a fiberglass stringer will lead to trouble.
