

The Law on OBLIGATIONS and CONTRACTS

FOR BUSINESS STUDENTS

2011 EDITION

CARLOS B. SUAREZ
ALEXANDER Q. SUAREZ

The Law on

Obligations

and Contracts

FOR BUSINESS STUDENTS

2011 Edition

CARLOS B. SUAREZ
ALEXANDER Q. SUAREZ

Year 2006 Edition

By

CARLOS B. SUAREZ
ALEXANDER Q. SUAREZ

Any copy of this book not bearing the signatures of the Authors on this page is unauthorized and shall be considered as proceeding from an illegal source.

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

CPA REVIEW SCHOOL OF THE PHILIPPINES
F. Cayco St.
Sampaloc, Manila
Tel. No. 740-30-96

ISBN 971-0489-94-7

Published & Printed by:

GIC ENTERPRISES & CO., INC.
2019 C. M. Recto, Manila
Philippines

Contents

INTRODUCTION	1
Definition of Law	1
Foundations and Characteristics of Law	1
General Divisions of Law	1
Kinds of Specific Law	2
Codification of Private Law	3
Definition of Civil Law	4
Sources of Philippine Civil Code	4
Civil and Commercial Law	4
TITLE I – OBLIGATIONS
CHAPTER I – GENERAL PROVISION	5
Concept and Source of the Law on Obligations and Contracts	5
Definition of Obligation	5
Requisites or elements of an obligation	5
Kinds of Obligations	6
Sources of Obligations	7
Obligations derived from Law	7
Obligations arising from Contracts	7
Obligations derived from Quasi-contracts	7
Obligations arising from Delict	8
Obligations from Quasi-delicts	8
Comments on sources of Obligation found in Article 1157	8
Obligations ex lege not presumed	9
Law governing obligations derived from Law	9
Validity of Contracts	10
Summary of the rules arising from contracts or voluntary agreements of the parties	10
Effect if part of the Contract is void	11
Concept of quasi - contracts	12
Two principal kinds of quasi-contracts	12
Examples of quasi-contracts	12
Rules governing obligation ex delictate or ex maleficie	14
Commission of a crime as a source of an obligation	14
Commission of a crime or felony will not always make a person civilly liable	14
What is included in civil liability	15
Proof or evidence required	16
Effect if the guilty party died pending trial	16

Effect if the guilty party is acquitted of the criminal action filed	16
Minimum amount recoverable in case of death	16
May a person who committed an act constituting a crime be exempted from criminal liability?	16
Definition of quasi-delict	17
Basis of liability	17
Requisites or elements to concur before the person is liable	18
Kinds of negligence	18
Culpa or negligence distinguished from the Dolo or Fraud	18
Culpa or negligence as distinguished from crimes	18
CHAPTER 2 – NATURE AND EFFECT OF OBLIGATIONS	20
The prestation in an obligation	20
Obligations of a person obliged to give something	20
Diligence required in the preservation and delivery of a determinate thing	20
Meaning of the phrase “good father of a family or bonum paterfamilia”	20
Creditor’s right to the fruits of the thing	21
Creditor’s right to the fruits, personal and real rights explained	21
Delivery or tradition as a requisites for the purpose of acquiring ownership	22
Kinds of Fruits: NIC	22
Summary of the Rules when the creditor has a right to the fruits of the thing	23
Definition and examples of determinate and indeterminate things	25
Rules governing determinate and indeterminate thing with specific illustration	26
Right of the creditor if debtor fails to perform his obligation	27
Definition and examples of an accessions and accessories	27
Creditor’s right in an obligation to do something	28
Creditor’s right against the debtor if the debtor does what has been forbidden	29
Concept of Delay, Default or Mora	31
Kinds of Mora or delay	31
Requisites of Mora Solvendi	31
Instances when there is no default or mora solvendi	31
Rules on Mora; Delay or Default	31
Delay in reciprocal obligation	34
Effects of Mora	34
Requisites of Mora Accipiendi	34
Grounds for liability to pay damages	35
Non-performance of fraud	35
Fault or negligence or culpa	36
In contravention of the terms of the agreement	36

Kinds of damages	36
Damages recoverable	36
Damages where the obligation is to pay money	37
Kinds of fraud	38
Renunciation of fraud	39
Test of negligence	40
Difference of Culpa Aquiliana from Culpa Contractual	40
Kinds of culpa or negligence	40
Renunciation of negligence	42
Degree of diligence required	42
Negligence a question of fact	42
Difference of fraud from negligence	42
Fortuitous events	43
Difference of fortuitous event from force majeure	43
Effects of fortuitous events in the performance of an obligation	43
Characteristics of fortuitous events before the obligor will be exempted from performance	45
Effect of negligence in fortuitous event	46
Concept of Usury	46
Concept of Interest	46
Receipt of the Principal	47
Receipt of a later installment without reservation as to prior installments	47
Exemption noted	48
Right of creditor as against the debtor	48
Extent of debtor's liability	49
Accion subrogatoria or the right to be subrogated	49
Rescission of fraudulent act	50
Transmissibility of rights	51
Exception on rights not transmissible	51
CHAPTER 3 – DIFFERENT KINDS OF OBLIGATIONS	52
Classification of Obligations	52
Section 1 – Pure and Conditional Obligation	53
Concept of pure and conditional obligation	53
When an obligation is demandable at once	53
Condition defined and its characteristics	53
Kinds of condition	54
Debtor to pay the creditor "when his means permit"	55
When an obligation is demandable	55
Decided cases considered obligation with a period	55
Suspensive condition or condition precedent	56
Resolutive condition or condition subsequent	56
Kinds of condition under Article 1182	57
Effects of impossible and illegal condition	59
Effects of positive condition	61

Effect if period of fulfillment is not fixed	61
Effects of negative condition	62
Summary: When the obligation is demandable if the condition is positive	62
Summary: When the obligation is demandable if the condition is negative	62
Effect when the debtor voluntarily prevents fulfillment of the condition	63
Requisites of constructive fulfillment	63
Retroactivity of obligation which are subject to suspensive condition	65
Retroactive effects as to the fruits and interest	66
Effects of payment before the condition is fulfilled	66
Rule on loss	69
Rule on deterioration	69
Rule in improvement of the thing	69
Improvement if partly by nature and partly at the expense of the debtor	71
Effects when resolutive condition is fulfilled	73
Concept of rescission as used in Article 1191	75
Application of Article 1191	75
Kinds of obligation according to person obliged	75
Essential features of rescission in reciprocal obligation	76
Rescission without previous judicial approval	77
Effect of rescission	77
Breach of the obligation	78
Section 2 – Obligation with a period	79
Concepts of period and day certain	79
Kinds of period	79
Requisites of period	80
Difference of period from a condition	80
Effect of payment before the arrival of the period	81
Effect of bad faith on the creditor if he accepts premature payment	81
The benefit of the period in an obligation	82
When the court may fix a period	85
Instances when the court may not fix the term or period	86
How the court fixes the period	86
When the debtor loses the benefit of the period	87
Section 3 – Alternative Obligations	89
Definition of alternative obligation	89
Right of choose	89
Limitation on the right of the debtor to choose	90
Effects of notice that choice has been made	91
Debtor's right to choose, creditor's consent not required	91
Required consent, when there is plurality of subjects	91

Effect of delay on the part of the debtor in making a choice	92
Limitations on debtor's right of choice	92
When alternative obligation is converted into a simple obligation	93
Effect of impossibility of selection due to the acts of the creditor	93
Effect if one or more things the debtor promised to deliver got lost	94
Effect of delay on the part of the creditor in making a choice	96
Legal effect when the choice has been expressly given to the creditor in alternative obligations	97
Summary of the rules, obligations and rights of the debtor and creditor in alternative obligation if the debtor binds himself alternatively to deliver three objects	98
Definition of facultative obligation	100
Difference of alternative obligation from a facultative obligation	100
Effect of the loss of the thing in facultative obligation	100
Loss of the substitute due to debtor's fault	101
Section 4 – Joint and Solidary Obligations	102
Concepts and synonyms of joint and solidary obligations	102
When an obligation is solidary	103
Kinds of solidarity	103
Disjunctive obligation	105
Concept and characteristics of joint indivisible obligation	106
Difference of indivisibility from solidarity	107
Mutual agency rule	109
Assignment of creditor's right	109
To whom must the debtor pay?	110
Concepts and effects of novation	111
Effects of compensation	112
Effects of remission	113
Effect of confusion or merger	113
Against whom can a solidary creditor demand payment?	114
Passive solidarity and suretyship	114
Concept and effect of payment	115
When a paying solidary debtor is entitled to the payment of interest	116
Insolvency of one of the solidary debtors	116
Concept of prescription and effect of payment after the obligation has prescribed	117
Effect of remission in solidary obligation	118
Effect of loss or impossibility of performance	120
Defenses available to solidary debtors	121

Section 5 – Divisible and Indivisible Obligations	125
Concepts of divisible and indivisible obligation	125
Kinds of indivisibility	125
Concept of joint indivisible obligation	126
Effects of non-compliance	126
Presumption that an obligation is indivisible	127
When an obligation is presumed to be divisible	128
What determines divisibility or indivisibility	128
Rules to be observed if contract is entire or severable	128
Effect of illegality	128
Principle of “Quantum Meruit”?	128
Section 6 – Obligation with a Penal Clause	130
Concepts and nature of a penalty	130
Difference of penalty from alternative obligation	130
Difference of penalty from facultative obligation	131
Exceptions where aside from penalty, damages and interest may be demandable by the creditor	131
Double functions of penalty	132
Enforcement of penalty when there is plurality of debtors	132
Payment of penalty instead of fulfillment	133
When the creditor can demand fulfillment of the principal obligation and payment of the penalty	133
Proof of damages	134
When penalty maybe reduced by the court	134
Instances when debtor is not liable to the payment of penalty	135
Effect of nullity of the penal clause	135
CHAPTER 4 – EXTINGUISHMENT OF OBLIGATIONS	136
Modes of extinguishing an obligation	136
When obligations are extinguished	136
Section 1 – Payment or Performance	137
Concept of payment	137
How payment or performance is made	137
Requisites of payment	138
Incomplete compliance or partial performance considered payment	138
Effect of payment by a third person	139
Persons from whom the creditor must accept payment	141
Persons to whom payment must be made	141
Payment to an incapacitated or unauthorized person	143
Payment to third person	143
When proof of benefit on the part of the creditor is not required	143
Requisites of payment under Article 1242	144
Debtor can not compel creditor to accept a different object	145
Instances when Article 1244 does not apply	145
Concept of dation in payment	145

Difference of dation from sale	146
Rules if contract does not specify the quality of the object to be delivered	146
Completeness of payment	147
Definition of legal tender	148
Effects of payment by means of instruments of credit	149
Republic Act No. 8183	150
Definition of inflation and deflation	150
Place where the obligation shall be paid	151
Subsection 1 – Application of Payments	152
Special modes of payment	152
Concepts and requisites for application of payment	152
When application of payment is applicable even if obligations are not yet due	153
Right to choose in application of payment	153
How and when the application is made	153
Rules if no application of payment is made	154
Subsection 2 – Payment by Cession	156
Definition and requisites of cession in payment	156
Difference of cession from dation	157
Kinds and effects of cession	157
Subsection 3 – Tender of Payment and Consignation	158
Definition of tender of payment, consignation	159
Requisites of a valid tender	159
Requisites of valid consignation	159
Effect of tender without consignation	160
Check as payment in an obligation and check as a valid tender of payment	161
Expenses of consignation	161
Effects of proper and improper consignation	162
When debtor can withdraw the thing consigned in court	162
Effects of withdrawal after consignation has been made	163
Release of co-debtor, guarantors and sureties	163
Section 2 – Loss of the Thing Due	164
Concept of loss	164
Kinds of impossibility of performance	164
Effects of loss	165
Delivery of delimited generic thing	165
Effect of fortuitous event	166
Meaning of "Obligation Extinguished"	168
Partial loss considered a total loss	169
Presumption of loss	169
Example of impossibility	169
"Beyond Contemplation Rule" and its requisites	170
Effect of loss in criminal offense	171
Right of subrogation	172

Section 3 – Condonation or Remission of Debt	173
Definition of condonation or remission	173
Essential requisites and classes of remission	173
Effects of delivery to the debtor of private instrument evidencing the credit	174
Application of Article 1272	175
Rule on express remission on immovable property	175
Effect of the renunciation of the principal and/or accessory obligation	176
Effect of delivery of the thing pledged to the debtor by the creditor	176
Section 4 – Confusion or Merger of Rights	177
Definition of confusion or merger	177
Requisites for a valid merger	177
Effect of merger and confusion	178
Confusion in joint and solidary obligation	178
Section 5 – Compensation	180
Definition of compensation	180
Difference of compensation from payment and merger	180
Kinds of compensation	181
Concept of facultative compensation	181
Legal compensation or operation of law	182
Requisites of legal compensation exemplified	183
Total or partial compensation	184
Conventional or voluntary compensation	185
Judicial compensation or set-off	185
Rescissible or voidable debts can be compensated	185
Assignment of the creditor's right	187
Automatic compensation	189
Reasons for the prohibition of compensation	190
When legal compensation can not take place	190
Section 6 – Novation	193
Definition of Novation	193
Dual purpose and requisites of Novation	193
Kinds of novation	194
When substantial changes be considered an implied novation	195
Changes in period or term or time of payment	196
Changes in contract or guaranty	197
Kinds of substitution of the debtor	198
Definition and example of expromission	198
Definition and example of delegacion	199
Requisites of expromission and delegacion	199
Effects of novation on accessory obligation	200
Effect of novation in void obligation	201
Effect of novation if old obligation is voidable	201
Effect if new obligation is voidable	201

Effect if the original obligation is subject to a condition	202
Definition of subrogation	202
When is it presumed that there is legal subrogation	203
Effects of subrogation	204
Subrogation in case partial payment is made	205
Distinguish conventional subrogation from assignment of rights	205
TITLE II – CONTRACTS	206
CHAPTER 1 – GENERAL PROVISION	206
Definition of Contract	206
Difference of contract from obligation, stipulation and agreements	206
Elements of contract	207
Stages in the life of a contract	207
Difference of an ordinary contract from contract of marriage, obligation, pact and stipulation	208
Basic principles or characteristics of contract	208
Different kinds of contracts	209
Concept of "liberty to contract"	211
Kinds of contracts according to name	213
Determination of a contract by third person	215
"Principle of relativity"	216
Exceptions to the rule of relativity	216
Explanation of stipulation "pour autrui"	218
How contracts are perfected	219
Perfection of consensual contracts	220
Consequences or effects of perfection	220
Perfection of Real Contracts	220
Definition and example of Commodatum	221
Contracts entered into in the name of another	221
Unenforceable contracts	222
CHAPTER 2 – ESSENTIAL REQUISITES OF CONTRACTS	223
Section 1 – Consent	223
Concept and requisites of consent	223
Meaning of offer	224
Nature of acceptance	224
Expedition theory and cognition theory as applied to perfection of contract	224
Perfection of contract: If sent by letter or telegram	225
Revocation of Acceptance	226
How acceptance is made	226
How in unilateral promise, specific acceptance is not required	226

Time, place and manner of acceptance	227
Acceptance of offer made thru an agent	227
Effect of death, civil interdiction, insolvency or insanity of either party before acceptance is conveyed	228
When to accept the offer	229
Withdrawal of offer.	229
Comments and Jurisprudence	230
Crossing of revocation and acceptance or "Crossed-Letter of Offer"	230
Rule in case of an offer to sell	231
Business advertisements of things for sale as definite offers	233
Persons incapable of giving consent	234
Effect if a party is in Lucid interval	237
Persons disqualified by law to enter into a contract	237
Causes vitiating consent	238
Effect if consent is vitiated	238
When error or mistake vitiates consent	239
Mistake or error which does not invalidated consent	239
Mistake of fact	241
Difference of violence from intimidation	242
Requisites of violence to vitiate consent	243
Requisites for intimidation to vitiate consent	243
Violence or intimidation covered by third person	244
Requisites of undue influence to vitiate consent	244
Definition and kinds of fraud	245
Requisites of fraud to vitiate consent	245
Difference between dolo causante and dolo incidente	246
Obligation to disclose facts	246
"Caveat emptor"	247
Statement of opinion	248
Misrepresentation by a third person	248
Definition, kinds and effects of simulation	250
Section 2 – Object of Contracts	251
Object of contracts	251
Future things being the object of a contract	252
Rules in contract of sale as to future things	252
Section 3 – Cause of Contracts	253
Concepts and requisites of cause	253
Kinds of contracts according to cause	254
Definition of motive	254
Difference of cause from motive	254
Cause distinguished from object and motive	255
Falsity of cause and its effect	256
Rules in the statement of false cause	257
Definition of lesion	258
Rules when there is lesion	258
Effect if cause is inadequate	258

CHAPTER 3 – FORMS OF CONTRACTS	260
Forms of contracts	260
When necessary form is required	262
What must appear in a public instrument?	264
CHAPTER 4 – REFORMATION OF INSTRUMENTS	267
Reformation defined	267
Purpose, requisites and essential features of reformation	268
Requisites of mistake	269
Unilateral mistake	270
Cases when there shall be no reformation	271
Persons to file an action for reformation	272
CHAPTER 5 – INTERPRETATION OF CONTRACTS	275
Interpretation defined	275
Determination of the intention by considering the acts of the contracting parties	276
Settlement of doubts in the interpretation of contracts	278
If principal object of the contract is doubtful	279
CHAPTER 6 – RESCISSIBLE CONTRACTS	281
Rescission defined	281
Kinds of defective contracts	282
Requisites of premature payment	284
Requisites to concur before action for rescission can be instituted	285
Requisites for rescission of contracts in fraud of creditors	287
Effects of bad faith in case of loss	290
Prescription period for rescission	291
CHAPTER 7 – VOIDABLE CONTRACTS	292
Voidable contacts	292
Nullity defined	292
Effect of prescription	295
Ratification, confirmation, acknowledgment	296
Kinds of ratification, Requisites of ratification	296
Persons entitled to ask for annulment	297
Effect of annulment of a voidable contract	300
Who can file the action for annulment?	301
Loss of the thing while in the possession of the party who can annul the contract	301
Mutual restitution	303
CHAPTER 8 – UNENFORCEABLE CONTRACTS	304
Concept of unenforceable contract	305
Kinds of unenforceable contracts	306
What is Statute of Frauds?	306

Ratification of contracts falling under the Statute of Frauds	310
Right of the party to compel the other to execute the needed instrument	312
Contracts where both parties are incapacitated	313
Persons who may set up the defense of unenforceability	314
CHAPTER 9 – VOID OR INEXISTENT CONTRACTS	318
Void contracts defined	318
Special classification of void contracts; Some of the characteristics of a void contract	319
Void and inexistent contracts distinguished from other defective contracts	319-320
Effects of contract where there is a criminal offense	321
Effects of contract where there is no criminal intent	322
The principle of "in pari delicto"	323-326
Contracts illegal per se; merely prohibited contracts	327
Payment in excess of that allowed by law	328
Contracts involving number of working hours and minimum wage	328
Illegal terms of the contract	329
Contract executed which is a direct result of a previous illegal contract	329
TITLE III – NATURAL OBLIGATIONS	331
Kinds of obligations from the viewpoint of sanction; Voluntary fulfillment explained	331
Period of extinctive prescription	332
Payment by third person	332
Payment of legacy in a void will	335
EXERCISES IN OBLIGATIONS INCLUDING CPA EXAMINATION QUESTIONS	336
True or False	336
Multiple Choice	344
EXERCISES IN CONTRACTS INCLUDING CPA EXAMINATION QUESTIONS	377
True or False	377
Multiple Choice	405